

The Final Threshold

lyrics and music by aurelie 2001

am em gm am
A late summer's night somewhere beyond time am dm E7 em/C E
moonlight shapes melt with darkness fm hm am lonely flames frighten
am em gm am
music's hidden in the twigs of the oaks
am dm E7 em/C E coldness creeps under my cloak fm hm am cm hm am shivering thoughts follow your words chorus:

dm am gm am
Where will we go when the first step is made?
dm am gm am
souls left confused in sorrow and pain H em D7 am
we face the final threshold, hold my hand em C D7 am fm cm hm
dear friend I fear those flames will consume us at last

Eyes so close, a voice, it's speaking ... silence ... the misty woods listen while I flee but still I see that face ... the sound of the truth, it's still hanging in the leaves my soul is crying out in pain uncertainty remains my friend there is no hope for the ones we are but I still want you to know your words shall not be forgotten ...

But though I wished you had decided not to speak for now I can't deny the truth anymore ...
--- short interrupt --- fm cm am fm hm cm hm am F# C am I'll be leaving now for our ... sake ...

lines 1 and 2 of the chorus without voc, then:
... we face the final threshold, hold my hand,

repeat chorus, from line 3 soft strokes
... dear friend I fear those flames have consumed us at least.
