

Walls of Silence - The Day of Perish

(lyrics & music by aurelie '01 2002)

I.

fm dm am am/C / am/F another day went by spent with thoughts of the light E7 D B am am/C / am/F while my soul is crashing against that wall of silence gm hm am G gm paralyzed I am glancing at the bricks made of doubt C em H7 am am/C / am/F / am no torch nor candle is enlightening my way to the end of the wall dm cm B F darkness is surrounding me as my silent mate am dm D am ||:am/C / am/F / am:|| while I'm trying so find my way through your maze chorus:

gm cm D7 gm
and only the wind, guarding and icy guides me gently through these halls gm cm D7 gm
and only belief will make me stand the tortures in this sanctuary am E dm am am/C / am/F and only my knowledge is driving me forward to face the final truth, my love em H7 am am/C am/F em
'and though my perish is certain', is what the prophecy said, I think, dm F am dm am while I'm trying to crush those walls where behind you will be waiting - for me

II.

Complete silence fills the area I am creeping in no sound of compassion, all but ease or hope only the one question appears as blood-red signs I've been wandering around in this dream for weeks now there are no more paths to try to find a way out shadows are chasing me, gloomy shades showing your face

III.

another day went by spent with useless trying to reach that soul that is hiding in here although I can sense its presence, dear friend the walls are reflecting my screams, hope is gone aimlessly I stalk through those chambers I got lost in while those shades are encycling my mind

IV.

another day has passed though I'm loosing track of time why am I still here? what am I searching in that darkness? that strange creature's soul is near, I can see it I almost may grasp it now, but fear itself has chained my will where are you now to free me from the curse of this quest?
I'm dying, dear friend, there ain't no way